THE FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

WYOMING STATE ATTORNEY

FEDERAL BANKRUPTCY COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF WYOMING

ROBERT M. LANE

Case No. 11-20398
Chapter 7

DEBTOR'S MOTION FOR SANCTIONS AGAINST DR. VIKKI L. LANE AND HER ATTORNEY BRENT COHEN FOR MAKING FALSE STATEMENTS TO THE COURT

A. Background

1. On or about January 29, 2013, Dr. Vikki Lane, a Santa Barbara, California based physician filed Vikki L. Lane's Amended Motion for Relief from Automatic Stay and Notice of Time to Object. Dr. Lane and her counsel made no attempt to confer with Debtor prior to filing, supporting Debtor's argument that the real purpose is harassment.
2. Dr. Vikki Lane filed a Proof of Claim on a timely basis in Debtor's bankruptcy alleging that she is owed over $1.1 million; a substantial amount of which she alleges is legal fees. Although she waived her right to legal fees in a legally binding Prenuptial Agreement, she makes no mention of this to the Court.

3. Dr. Vikki Lane's claims result from the dissolution of the parties' marriage in 2008 and Dr. Lane's desire to punish her ex-husband by pursuing mean spirited highly contentious litigation when most parties reach settlements on outstanding issues. Dr. Vikki Lane has walked away from several mediated settlements and has rejected 23 or more separate invitations to sit down and settle matters. Most logical parties would have resolved their differences long before now.
4. Dr. Vikki Lane has a history of being a pathological liar and engaging in making false statement according to those who know her. People who know her call her "Tricky Vikki" as a tribute to her propensity for deceptive behavior.
5. In the California Superior Court of Santa Barbara, Dr. Vikki Lane and her attorney were sanctioned for making a false statement to the Court on a Motion to Compel on December 30, 2005 (See EXHIBIT A, Court Docket). They attempted to claim contempt for not receiving a document on a timely basis when in fact they did receive the document on a timely basis. They did not dispute the sanctions.
6. Another Court in Wyoming also made findings about Dr. Vikki Lane's propensity to lie (See EXHIBIT B). The Tribunal of the Diocese of Cheyenne found "Everyone stated that Respondent (Dr. Vikki Lane) has difficulty telling the truth... These examples and other examples led one witness to classify Respondent (Dr. Vikki L. Lane) as a pathological liar." Page 6. On page 7, the Tribunal states “The evidence shows the Respondent (Dr. Vikki Lane) was self-centered and would lie to get her way or look good.”

7. On or about November 10, 2009, Dr. Vikki Lane was subject to Motion for Perjury and Request for Sanctions in the California Superior Court of Santa Barbara. Dr. Lane claimed in an Income and Expense Declaration filed with the Court that her only assets after being a licensed physician for 15 years were valued at approximately $60,000. Evidence showed she failed to disclose to the Court significant assets worth multiples of what she falsely claimed. See EXHIBIT A. The Court recommended that the perjury claim be dealt with by the District Attorney for the County of Santa Barbara. The District Attorney’s office investigated the matter. The results of their investigation are not known.
8. Lastly, Dr. Vikki Lane showed her contempt for the California Superior Court of Santa Barbara by kidnapping the couple’s children and moving them four hours away to her mother’s house in violation of the court’s temporary stay. The Court ordered the children returned to their home in Santa Barbara and admonished Dr. Lane for attempting to make a “shambles” of the legal system (See EXHIBIT A).
9. This Motion for Sanctions was presented to Dr. Vikki Lane’s counsel Brent Cohen on February 4, 2013 with a request that they withdraw their false statements. If they had agreed to do so, Robert agreed that he would not file this motion. Mr. Cohen failed to withdraw the false statements.

B. Dr. Vikki L. Lane’s False Statements

10. Although Dr. Vikki Lane has made numerous false statements, sanctions are requested here for three of the bolder lies she has made in her pleadings.

11. Dr. Vikki Lane falsely claims in Paragraph 7 (2) that Debtor has submitted “over twenty-five support related motions.” This is a false statement unsupported by any evidence or facts. In fact, following the dissolution trial that ended in November, 2008, Debtor has filed only two Motions to Modify Child Support. These two motions as indicated on the Court Docket (EXHIBIT A) were filed on 9/29/09 and 10/9/12. The California Courts generally permit one motion per twelve month period to modify support. There is no spousal support as the parties waived spousal support in their Prenuptial Agreement. Dr. Vikki Lane is an internal medicine physician capable of earning more than $200,000. Because she has refused to work full-time (while she is fully able to do so) the California courts issued a Gavron order against Dr. Vikki Lane. If Robert made “over twenty-five support related motions,” the Court records would easily demonstrate this. They simply do not and Dr. Lane and her counsel have simply been caught in another lie. If the Court agrees with Robert’s request for sanctions, this will represent the third Court now that has found Dr. Vikki Lane to be a liar.

12. Dr. Vikki L. Lane claims in her pleading in 7 (a) that Debtor has committed “perjury relative to his entitlement to assets held by the Boulder Investment Trust, the Riverbend Ranch Trust and the Windriver Corporation.” This is another false statement unsupported by any evidence. No Court has ever found Robert guilty of perjury or accused him of such.

13. Dr. Vikki L. Lane claims that Debtor has harassed "Ms. Lane, a medical doctor, by writing false and slanderous letters to her employer and the medical licensing board." What evidence does Dr. Lane have that Robert wrote false and slanderous letters to the medical licensing board as she claims? There is none. Debtor is aware that Dr. Vikki Lane has been investigated previously (prior to their being married) for allegedly having an unusual and suspicious pattern of prescribing controlled substances and other addictive drugs. Robert is also aware during their marriage that Dr. Lane violated DEA regulations by writing prescriptions for drugs for herself and having them filled in the names of her patients at out of town pharmacies where neither she nor her patients would likely be recognized. Debtor is unaware of whether she has ceased this illegal behavior or whether she has been further investigated for these potential drug prescribing improprieties.

14. Numerous other statements in Dr. Lane's pleadings are also false and misleading. Dr. Lane suggested that Robert has failed to make regular child support payments. In fact, Robert makes monthly child support payments and assumes financial responsibility for his children's expenses the 50% of the time he has his children. Over $550,000 in child support has been paid and Robert believes that he has a credit balance for his child support. Dr. Vikki Lane, however, would prefer to prejudice the Court against Robert and portray him as a deadbeat dad.

C. Argument and Legal Authority

15. Fed R. Banker Rule 9011 and Rule 11 permit sanctions against parties who use Motions for an improper purpose and who make false claims not supported by any evidence. This is part of the ongoing mean spirited litigation against Debtor and qualifies for sanctions under 9011 (b) (1) and (3). Dr. Vikki Lane and her counsel have no evidence backing up their false statements. Their claim that Robert filed "over twenty-five support related motions" is their most egregious when the court docket demonstrates only two. In fact, the court docket indicates quite a number of motions filed by Dr. Lane although few deal with child support. They desire to use their false statements to both prejudice the Court against Debtor and further harass him, improper purposes.

Wherefore, Debtor requests sanctions of $7,500 to cover Debtor's time and expenses in responding to these false statements by Dr. Vikki Lane filed solely to harass and Debtor and prejudice the Court against him. Further, said sanctions are designed to deter Dr. Vikki Lane and her Denver counsel, Brent Cohen from continuing to use the legal system to harass Debtor and as well as to discourage her continuing pattern of prevarication and pathological lies that she has now perpetrated on three different courts.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.
Seat of Wisdom. Pray for us.

11 In the Pontificate of His Holiness, Pope Benedict XVI, and with the Most Reverend Paul 12 D. Etienne, DD, STL, Bishop of Cheyenne, the following officials of the Diocesan Tribunal have 13 been named by the Judicial Vicar as a tribunal of first instance in the case concerning the validity 14 of the marriage of ROBERT MICHAEL LANE AND VIKKI LYNN LAREAU.

15 Presiding Judge: Reverend Thomas E. Cronkleton, Jr., JCD
16 Auditor: Connie Kassahn
17 Defender of the Bond: Very Reverend Samuel Hayes
18 Notary: Linda Robbins

I. THE FACTS:

21 The Petitioner, Robert Michael Lane, of Jackson, Wyoming, was born on June 4, 1953, in 22 Saint Clair Shores, Michigan, and was baptized as an infant at St. Joan of Arc Catholic Church, 23 in Saint Clair Shores, Michigan, on July 5, 1953. The Petitioner married Patricia Ann Lerrick on 24 March 21, 1981, at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church in Columbus, Ohio. Ms. Lerrick 25 petitioned for and received a Judgment of Civil Divorce in the Circuit Court of the Nineteenth 26 Judicial Circuit, Lake County, Illinois, on September 21, 1993. Two children were born of this 27 union, both are emancipated adults. The Diocese of Lansing declared this marriage invalid by 28 decree on March 31, 1997 (Lane-Lerrick, L97/000180).

29 The Respondent, Vikki Lynn LaReau, of Santa Barbara, California, was born on June 15, 30 1960, in San Diego, California, and was baptized in the Episcopal Church.

31 The Petitioner and Respondent met in late 1995, when the Petitioner interviewed the 32 Respondent for a position in a hospital in which he served as a recruiter. The Respondent was 33 offered the position at the hospital and rejected the offer in order accept a 'more prestigious 34 position' elsewhere. The Petitioner stated that through the interview process they came to know

1 each other well. When the Petitioner traveled to Boston, where the Respondent worked, he 2 contacted the Respondent and asked her to dinner. Thus began their relationship. They spent the 3 next "year or two" in a long distance relationship, traveling back and forth, and ultimately 4 deciding to marry. The Petitioner and Respondent became engaged three months prior to the 5 wedding. The Diocese of Lansing issued a Permission for Mixed Religion and a Dispensation 6 from Canonical Form on April 10, 1997 (Rescript No. 125-97). The Petitioner and Respondent 7 married on April 19, 1997, at St. James Episcopal Church in La Hoya, California. At the time of 8 the marriage, the Petitioner was 44, and the Respondent was 37 years of age. The parties lived 9 together, off and on, approximately two years of their eleven and a half year union. A decree of 10 civil divorce was obtained on March 10, 2009, from the Superior Court of the State of California, 11 for the County of Santa Barbara (Case Number 1093841). The Respondent in this case was the 12 Plaintiff in the civil divorce. The grounds for divorce are not listed in the Divorce Decree. The 13 time from marriage ceremony to divorce was eleven and a half years. Two children were born of 14 this union, a son and daughter, both baptized Catholic. The Petitioner and Respondent share 15 joint custody.

16 The Tribunal of the Diocese of Cheyenne received a petition seeking a decree of 17 invalidity on June 18, 2010; and the competence of this tribunal has been established on the basis 18 of canon 1673, 3<sup>o</sup>, the domicile of the Petitioner. After having received the consent to 19 competence from the Judicial Vicar of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, the domicile of the 20 Respondent, on September 9, 2010, this forum properly cited the parties in this action on 21 September 13, 2010. When the Respondent failed respond to the citation, she was declared 22 absent on October 22, 2010.

23 On October 22, 2010, the issue before this tribunal was joined with the following dubium 24 to be answered in this case:

25 Whether the marriage was invalid because the Respondent through a positive act 26 of the will excluded indissolubility (c. 1101 §2)?

27 The Petitioner provided oral declarations on June 2, 2010. This party named three 28 witnesses, his mother, his sister, and a friend, all of whom have cooperated with the tribunal and 29 provided testimony. The probative acts of the case were published on February 24, 2011; and 30 the case was formally concluded by decree on March 10, 2011. On April 4, 2011, the Reverend 31 Defender of the Bond presented his formal Observations.

32 II. THE LAW:

33 When a man and woman exchange vows in the wedding ceremony the presumption is 34 that they intend to enter into the marriage covenant with each other and to live the vows they 35 profess. This presumption is stated in the law of the Latin Church in canon 1101 § 1. It says:

36 The internal consent of the mind is presumed to conform to the words and signs used in 37 celebrating the marriage.<sup>1</sup>

38 This is an application of canon 124 §2, which says:

<sup>1</sup> Codex Iuris Canonici Auctoritate Ioannis Pauli PP. II Promulgatus [CIC] (Vatican City: Libreria Editrice Vaticana, 1989) c. 1101 § 1: "Internus animi consensus praesumitur conformis verbis vel signis in celebrando matrimonio adhibitis." Translation from Code of Canon Law: Latin - English Edition, New English Translation (Washington, DC: Canon Law Society of America, 1999).

1 A juridic act placed correctly with respect to its external elements is presumed valid.<sup>2</sup>

2 The words and signs people use, the external elements, unfortunately do not always correspond 3 to their actual intent. People lie, they deceive and they mislead others. Even in the sacred and 4 solemn act of contracting marriage, some people intend something other than what the vows and 5 ritual express. Canon 1101 § 2, therefore, states:

6 If, however, either or both of the parties by a positive act of the will exclude marriage itself, 7 some essential element of marriage or an essential property of marriage, the party contracts 8 invalidly.<sup>3</sup>

9 The facts, therefore, can overturn the presumption of a proper intention.

10 In the case before us, we have a question of the exclusion of the essential property of 11 indissolubility, or, as it is traditionally expressed, an intention contra bonum sacramenti, an 12 intention against permanence. Canon 1056 provides the essential properties of marriage. The 13 canon states:

14 The essential properties of marriage are unity and indissolubility, which in Christian 15 marriage obtain a special firmness by reason of the sacrament.<sup>4</sup>

16 Unity concerns the exclusivity of marriage, namely that marriage is a relationship between one 17 man and one woman and thereby excludes polygamy (both polygyny and polyandry).<sup>5</sup> 18 Indissolubility concerns the permanence of the bond of marriage. Canon 1134 stresses that this 19 bond of marriage is enduring. The canon states:

20 From a valid marriage there arises between the spouses a bond which by its nature is 21 perpetual and exclusive.<sup>6</sup>

22 A consummated, valid marriage between two baptized persons, therefore, can only be dissolved 23 by death.<sup>7</sup> Outside of death, there are only four situations in which the marriage bond can be 24 dissolved: the Pauline privilege,<sup>8</sup> the Petrine privilege,<sup>9</sup> the conversion of a polygamist<sup>10</sup> and the 25 non-consummated union.<sup>11</sup> In all other cases, marriage is indissoluble.

1       Canon 1101 § 2 stipulates that the exclusion of permanence must be done through a 2 positive act of the will. A positive act of the will involves a conscious choice. A positive act can 3 be absolute (e.g., "I don't want an indissoluble marriage which will prohibit me from marrying 4 again.") or it can be hypothetical (e.g., "If something happens, then I reserve the right to end the 5 current marriage and marry another.").<sup>12</sup> It can be explicit (e.g., "I reject the indissolubility of 6 marriage and intend a marriage which can end in divorce and am free to marry after the 7 divorce.") or implicit (e.g., "My culture, religion and/or family background has taught me a 8 person can end a marriage through a civil divorce and is then free to marry another.").<sup>13</sup> The 9 positive act of the will can be actual (a conscious intention directing the action) or virtual (a 10 continuation of a conscious intention even though the conscious intention is no longer foremost 11 in the party's awareness, e.g., distracted while acting).<sup>14</sup> It is not a habitual intention (e.g., a 12 mere inclination or general disposition), an interpretive intention (e.g., "If I knew then what I 13 know now."), a propensity (e.g., a preference without personal commitment) or indifference.

14       There are four basic ways of positing an intention against permanence. The first is the 15 conscious rejection of the indissolubility of marriage even though one knows marriage is to be 16 indissoluble. The second is an intention to be free to marry again if the marriage one is entering 17 should end in civil divorce or civil annulment. The third is substituting one's own view of 18 marriage for the Christian (Divine) view of marriage.<sup>15</sup> The fourth is the reservation to oneself 19 of the right to end the marriage and marry another.

20       Deep and long held error concerning the nature of marriage especially concerning its 21 indissolubility can form a one's intention causing the person to intend a dissolvable marriage.<sup>16</sup> 22 The "divorce mentality" present in the United States can lead to such error. The religious and 23 intellectual formation of a person can form a person's intellect and will in such a manner only a 24 dissolvable marriage could be chosen.<sup>17</sup> Ideologies (e.g., agnosticism, individualism, pragmatism, 25 relativism, skepticism, opinionism, etc.) can shape a person's intellect and will so one would 26 reject an indissoluble marriage. The family history of an individual especially the presence and 27 acceptance of divorce among a person's relatives can shape one's intention against

1 permanence.<sup>18</sup> A person's own attitudes and behaviors while approaching marriage can reveal 2 one's intention concerning marriage, and so can the personal history of the individual, e.g., prior 3 marriages ended in divorce, irresponsibility, lack of commitment, etc. Pressure to marry can also 4 lead a person to enter into a marriage, which the person has decided can be terminated.<sup>19</sup> These 5 are some factors that can shape the intellect and will of a person so a deliberate choice is made 6 against permanence.

7 To prove an intention against permanence either direct proof through the confession of 8 the simulating party with the confirmation of witnesses or an indirect proof as the only way to 9 understand the behavior is necessary.<sup>20</sup> Both may exist in the same case. There needs to be a 10 reason or motive for this simulation based upon personal attitudes towards divorce and 11 remarriage, an objective rationale for not wanting marriage unto death, and a reason to marry 12 despite all this.<sup>21</sup>

13 Finally, the mere fact a couple civilly divorced does not in and of itself show an 14 exclusion of permanence. A person, for example, might choose to divorce his or her spouse 15 because of an intolerable situation. The Church herself recognizes there are situations where the 16 permanent separation of a couple may be necessary, e.g., adultery, physical abuse, addiction, 17 etc.<sup>22</sup> A person, therefore, who civilly divorced his or her spouse may have done so because it 18 was the best or only method available to achieve separation and escape an intolerable situation.

19 When in the instruction of a case there is less than moral certitude about the intention of 20 the parties, then the marriage is considered valid for marriage enjoys the favor of the law, and 21 when a doubt exists, the validity is upheld until the contrary is proven.<sup>23</sup> The presumption of the 22 validity of the marriage, however, yields to proofs that give moral certitude.

23 III. THE ARGUMENT

24 The fundamental assertion in this case is that the Respondent entered into marriage with 25 the judgment that once she had obtained what she wanted, she could abandon the marriage. The 26 Petitioner, therefore, is claiming that the Respondent did not intend an indissoluble marriage. He 27 further maintains that the Respondent married him, because she was getting on in years and 28 wanted to have children and needed to do so before she was too old, and that she married him for 29 his money. These are rather stark and bold claims; however, the evidence presented 30 substantiates them.

31 The declarations of the Petitioner and the testimony of the three witnesses corroborate 32 one another. They are interiorly consistent, and there is no appearance of collusion. The three

1       witnesses have firsthand knowledge and information shared by the Petitioner at non-suspect 2       times. All three witnesses are confidants of the Petitioner.

3       The Respondent has chosen not to participate in this process, and a direct confession or 4       denial is not, therefore, present. Also absent from this case is an indirect confession made to 5       someone else by the Respondent. The behavior, however, of the Respondent cannot be 6       explained other than by her having simulated.

7       Everyone agreed that the Respondent was raised in the midst of divorce and remarriage.
8       Her father and mother divorced when she was a child. Both remarried. The Respondent's father 9       remains married to his second wife. The Respondent's mother, however, has remarried and 10      divorced two more times. The timeline, however, is unclear whether the third marriage was 11      before or after the marriage of the Petitioner and the Respondent. One witness stated, "I think 12      [the Respondent's mother] was instrumental in showing [the Respondent] how to divorce well, 13      as opposed to how to have a good marriage" (Acts, 53). The childhood experience of the 14      Respondent as she observed the actions of her parents, particularly her mother, taught that 15      marriage is not a life-time commitment, but rather a commitment for as long as one or both 16      parties wanted it to be.

17      Everyone reported that when the Petitioner decided to petition for a civil divorce in July 18      of 2005, that the attorney for the Petitioner discovered that the Respondent had filed for a civil 19      divorce in 2002, but had not acted upon the petition or had the Petitioner served. The 20      Respondent never made mention to the Petitioner of having filed this petition. The Petitioner 21      also asserted that the Respondent had filed for a civil divorce in 1999, a little more than two 22      years after the wedding, but withdrew the petition after they reconciled. The witnesses allude to 23      this first filing, and they directly speak to the reconciliation. In the end, the Respondent is listed 24      as the Plaintiff in the civil divorce, not the Petitioner. The fact that the Respondent filed and then 25      secretly re-filed for a civil divorce demonstrates that she judged she was who determined the 26      nature and dissolubility of marriage.

27      The Petitioner and his witnesses spoke of the self-centeredness of the Respondent. One 28      of the examples of this was the selection of the place of marriage. Despite the fact that the 29      Petitioner made it clear that he wanted to be married in a Catholic church, the Respondent sent 30      her mother "church shopping" to find a beautiful church in which to be wed. Her mother 31      recommended a particular Episcopal church to which they had no affiliation, and the Respondent 32      insisted that no Catholic church was pretty enough to match it and thereby acceptable. A 33      dispensation from form was, therefore, sought and granted. Another example, is the 34      Respondent's unwillingness to accept her role as a step-mother to the Petitioner's two children 35      from his first marriage. A third example is her insistence on relocating to California, a state 36      difficult for the Petitioner to make a new start in the medical business and which separated him 37      from this children. A fourth example is her unwillingness to socialize particularly with the 38      Petitioner's family and friends, and her not wanting to connect with her own children as infants.

39      Everyone stated that the Respondent had difficulty in telling the truth. For example, 40      instead of stating she really wanted to return to California, she said it was the only state in which 41      she could find a job as a medical doctor. Filing for a civil divorce and never telling the Petitioner 42      is another example. These and other examples led one witness to classify the Respondent as a 43      pathological liar (Acts, 42, 46).

1       Lastly, everyone agreed that the Respondent because she was approaching forty was 2 concerned that she needed to get married if she were to have children. Having children was 3 important to her, but she did not want to have them outside of marriage. In addition, everyone 4 agreed that at the time the parties met, the Petitioner was quite wealthy. They state she married 5 him for his money. To support this statement, they note all the acrimony in the civil divorce is 6 over money. She claims that although the Petitioner went bankrupt during the marriage that he is 7 still wealthy, despite proof to the contrary, and she is trying to gain access to this fictitious 8 wealth.

9 The evidence in this case demonstrates that the Respondent was raised in an environment 10 that taught marriage was not indissoluble, but dissoluble. The evidence shows that the 11 Respondent was self-centered, and would lie to get her way or look good. The evidence reveals 12 that she filed twice for a civil divorce, the second time without informing the Petitioner. The 13 evidence provides two motives to marry despite an intention against indissolubility, namely, a 14 desire to have children before surpassing childbearing age and a desire for wealth. The 15 explanation that fits all this evidence is an intention against indissolubility.

17 application to the particular circumstances, I, Thomas E. Cronkleton, Jr., seated as Judge of the 18 Tribunal of the Diocese of Cheyenne, as the court of First Instance, after invoking the Trinity and 19 the intercession of Our Blessed Mother, Seat of Wisdom, do before God hereby DECREE, 20 DECLARE and PRONOUNCE the following concerning the marriage between ROBERT 21 MICHAEL LANE AND VIKKI LYNN LAREAU:

22 As to whether the marriage was invalid because the Respondent through a positive act of the 23 will indissolubility, I find

IN THE AFFIRMATIVE.

26 WHEREFORE, in the interest of the public good and the good of the parties, I DECREE, 27 DECLARE and PRONOUNCE the following: . . .

28 The parties are to be informed of the disposition of this sentence, their right to come to the 29 office of the Tribunal of the Diocese of Cheyenne to review the sentence and their right to 30 contest this decision.

31 A monitum is placed upon the Petitioner. He has already had two attempts at marriage that 32 have failed. He and any preparing minister is cautioned to make sure the Petitioner is not 33 entering into a third invalid union, and to use any and all pastoral means to achieve this.

34 A vetitum is placed upon the Respondent. Should she decide to enter into a marriage in the 35 Catholic Church, she will need to demonstrate to the local ordinary that she has the correct
